

DelSheree Spinner

USA TODAY BESTSELLING AUTHOR

DelSheree Spinner was one of those shy, quiet kids who spent more time reading than talking. She didn't speak a single word for the first few months of preschool. Her fascination with reading led to many hours spent in the library and bookstores, and eventually to writing. She wrote her first novel when she was sixteen years old, but spent ten years rewriting it before it was published.

Native to New Mexico, many of DelSheree's books feature the Four Corners area or were inspired by its history and lore. When not writing novels, she is often reading, hiking, sewing, and working with other authors.

DelSheree has several bestselling young adult series and has hit the USA Today Bestseller list twice as part of box sets. She also writes contemporary romance, humorous mystery, and paranormal new adult series. Her writing is as varied as her reading interests.
